Health Care Program

2016 Comparison Chart

This chart outlines the health coverage, which is available to eligible faculty and staff during the 2016 plan year. The college offers you the option of joining an HMO, a Value HMO or a POS plan.

♦ Health Maintenance Organization (HMO): In an HMO, your Primary Care Physician coordinates all of your care within a specific network of doctors and hospitals. You generally pay a fee, called a co-payment, for office visits, prescriptions, and hospitalization. If you receive medical care without Primary Care Physician or Plan referrals, the HMO usually will not cover the cost, unless the services are for a medical emergency.

♦ Value Health Maintenance Organization (Value HMO): In a Value HMO, your Primary Care Physician coordinates all of your care within a specific network of doctors and hospitals. For some services you will pay a copayment, for other services you must first satisfy a deductible. Certain tests and screenings are covered at no charge. If you receive medical care without Primary Care Physician or Plan referrals, the HMO usually will not cover the cost, unless the services are for a medical emergency.

♦ Point of Service Plan (POS): A POS plan works similar to an HMO if you use Harvard Pilgrim providers but has an out-of-network option and the out-of-pocket costs and the premiums tend to be significantly higher than the HMO. At the point of electing any medical service, you decide whether or not to use in-network or out-of-network services. If you go in-network you need to get a Primary Care Physician referral. With a referral, services are typically covered in full after you pay a co-payment. Without a referral, the services will be considered out-of-network and you will pay initial charges (a “deductible”) and then a percentage of the following charges (“coinsurance”) before the plan begins paying fully. You and your providers must fill out claim forms. The option to bypass the referral is thus more expensive, but does provide you with freedom of choice.
